A Hot Reply.

Recently in a neighboring town a very fastidious young man bought a pair of overalls and found in a pocket the name of the sewing girl who made them. He very promptly wrote her a letter with all the effusiveness necessary in such a case, and in due time received a reply, which however was void of the romance usual in such cases. Here it is: "I'm a working girl, it is true, but I make a good living and I do not care to support a husband, as I would have to do if I married some silly noodle who gets muddled on a girl he never saw. Permit me to say that I do not know how my card got in that pair of overalls, and that when I do marry, if ever, it will be some fellow that can afford something better than a 47c. pair of overalls."

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 40c. at any drug store.

Beauty of Classical Music.

Miss Gash—Do you like classical music. Mr. Soundrop? Mr. Soundrop—Yes. Miss Gash—Oh, I am so glad! Do you not find it great inspiration, sublime thought and true beauty? Mr. Soundrop—Not exactly. I like it because no blithering idiot can beat time to it with his foot.

For Xmas.

We want to sell you all your jewelry needs. L. E. Lane.

Hail, Ye Henpecked.

Speaking of graveyard poetry, here is one recently discovered on a tombstone over in a neighboring town: "Here lies our wife, Samantha P. Pootor, who ketches a cold and wouldn't doctor. She could not stay, she had to go; praise God from whom all blessing flow."

Dyspepsia is our national ailment. Burdock Blood Bitters is the national cure for it. It strengthens stomach membranes, promotes flow of digestive juices, purifies the blood, builds you up. d-1m

The Etiquette of Hunting.

When you hear a noise in the bushes and can't see what is making it always fire both barrels in the direction of it and then investigate. It may be a man, you know.

Never fire at a rabbit until he gets directly in line with some member of your hunting party and then blaz-away. Thus you may kill two birds with one stone.

It is a good deal of fun while hunting to hide away from the others who are with you. Wear a fur cap if possible, lie flat on the ground and make a noise like a rabbit. Then wait and see what will happen.

Before starting on your trip, borrow your neighbor's most valuable dog. When ordinary game is scarce, dog shooting is considered excellent sport by many.

It is considered "cute" and also de rigueur, whatever that is, to whistle like a quail. The quails won't mind it and it often makes good sport for the rest of the party.

Calf-hunting, also, has become fashionable in some circles. Some farmers turn their calves out into the woods just so hunters who cannot find other game, may not be disappointed. A calf is one of the noblest of our native game animals and is generally of sufficient size to make killing even one in a day, worth while. Calves seldom are seen in covies, now and they must be shot singly, if at all. A true sportsman will not shoot a calf while it is standing still. He prefers, always that it be in motion so that his skill as a wing shot may be tested.

There are those who shoot horses, now and then, but the flesh of this animal is not entirely palatable and only very young and unskilled hunters now go horse-hunting. Besides there are some selfish farmers who prefer that their horses be not shot. When in doubt, always shoot.

Don't waste time looking all over town, but come straight to the Racket Store and find exactly what you want for Xmas.

Bright Little Mary.

"Now remember, Mary," said the teacher just before the school exercise, "if you forget some of the words when you are singing your song don't stop, keep right on; say tum-tum-tum-tum or something like that, and nobody will know the difference." On exhibition day little Mary edified her audience in song thus:

"And she wears a wreath of roses Around her tummy-tum-tum."

Christmas Turkeys.

Many turkey raisers of Central Kentucky are holding their turkeys for the Christmas market in the hope of securing better prices for birds than before Thanksgiving, and this is said to have given rise to the belief that shortage of the crop existed, which is not case.

In several of the Blue Grass counties themselves who attend principally to the business of raising the toothsome fowls have taken the cue from the tobacco growers and organized turkey pools for boosting the price.

Without question there are more turkeys that remain unsold in Central Kentucky than at any previous season. While the crop in this section was not as large as in former years, the immense increase in the crops of the West and Southwest fairly glutted the eastern market and large numbers remained unsold and are now in cold storage awaiting the Christmas market.

Commission men in the city markets say prices will not rule as high Xmas as Thanksgiving. Texas alone sent twice as many turkeys to the North and East as any other three States, and experienced buyers say that on account of the birds feeding principally on pecans and other nuts makes the flesh of a superior flavor and they bring top prices in any market.
